About Something Bleu

I always dreamed of opening my own business, but it took several years for me to discover where my passion lies. I remember watching Martha Stewart on TV as a young child in awe of her style, and aspiring to be like her, a wonderful entertainer with brilliant ideas and a beautifully decorated home. Over the years, I honed in on my own home entertaining style and developed a love for crafting delicious charcuterie boards for family and friends.

My love of charcuterie started out as a hobby, but after being inspired by friends back in Memphis, TN (where we lived prior to moving to Charlotte), I decided to make the leap and turn my passion into a business! My husband and three daughters inspire me daily and are my biggest cheerleaders as a small business owner.

I have loved every minute of creating custom charcuterie and hosting charcuterie workshops for so many of you in Charlotte and appreciate your support more than you know!

Something Bleu Custom Charcuterie is licensed, insured, ServSafe certified and operates out of a commercial kitchen in Cabarrus County, NC.
